It had been raining that morning and the tipple was wet. The deceased took a piece of timber to use as a lever to lift the car on the track; it suddenly slipped and he fell off the tipple, a distance of eighteen feet; when he was found, his back was broken. He was taken home, where he died on July 31, The grade rail at the place where he fell off had been broken for some time previous to the accident. He left a widow and six children. July 31, 18115, William Zarbourough, aged 27 years, employed as a loader by the Pawnee Coal Company, Westville, Vermilion count-. The deceased went into a room--number 24, sixth south entry--about 1 o clock p. m., and commenced loading coal, when a large fall of rock fell on him, killing him instantly. The room was not properly timbered, the nearest prop to the face-of the coal being eighteen feet. It was one of a number of rooms in which the timbering and blasting was done by contract. The deceased was a single man. August 23, 1S95, John Limburger, aged 50 years, miner, employed by the Chicago and Kansas City Coal Company at their mine in Petersburg. On the morning of the 23d of August, while being lowered into the mine, the engineer lost control of...
